

Antonio della Valle

Antonio della Valle (Naples 1850-1935) taught Zoology and Comparative Anatomy in Modena from 1884 to 1897, being Dean of the Faculty of Science from 1889 to 1892. In 1897 he transferred to Naples, his home town, to fill the chair of Comparative Anatomy, a position he held until 1925. His field of specialization was the study of Amphipoda and Ascidiacea.